MISS SENIOR

Art Guild

The Art Guild was organized in September, 1941, by twenty Art Students of Morris Harvey College. It is an organization for the purpose of providing an opportunity for students interested in art, who wish to do creative work outside of classes, to have the benefit of meeting regularly as a group to sketch, model, or paint, and to carry out projects in the field of art. The organization aims also to make those around it art conscious through student exhibits, demonstrations, lectures, and exhibits from outside the school. A further objective is to provide an art scholarship or loan fund for an interested, talented student desiring to study art at Morris Harvey College. This year's program has included exhibits and demonstrations in silk screening, jewelry making, finger painting, ceramics, textile painting and a lecture by an architect.

MISS JUNIOR

CHEERLEADERS

Vick Bardwell, Helen Scott, Dick Crewsdon, Jerry Braden, Nick Ciccarello, and Virginia Koch—making with the ole' Fight Team Fight!

The Morris Harvey Philharmonic Choir, under the direction of Harold W. Ewing, made frequent appearances before local civic groups, and at school assemblies throughout Kanawha County during the college year. Numbered among the performances have been programs at the State convention of Rebeccahs and Odd Fellows, the State Convention of the King's Daughters, the State convention of PTA, and the State convention of the Women's Society of Christian Service.

MORRIS HARVEY PHILHARMONIC CHOIR

The Choir, augmented by former Choir members, presented Handel's "Messiah" before a large audience at the Charleston Municipal Auditorium during the Christmas season. Two students and three local artists sang the solo parts. A twenty-piece orchestra and organ furnished the accompaniment. This included members of the Morris Harvey faculty and student body.

The Annual Spring Choir tour in April included concerts at Clendenin, Weston, Grafton, Kingwood, Weir and Spencer. Assembly programs were given at various high schools en route.

The Comet

SPORTSWRITER "BILL" BIBB

EDITOR "ED" PETERS

BUSINESS MANAGER THABET

A comet, according to Webster, is "a luminous heavenly body, generally irregular in form, often having a long nebulous train, or tail, and following an orbit about the sun."

His definition is at least partly correct when extended to include the Morris Harvey Comet, "For 27 years the Students' Newspaper," as it says in the masthead.

Being a "luminous" body, it shed some light on activities about the college (the staff hopes). Perhaps that illumination varied from a faint glow to an arc-lamp intensity, but no matter how dim at times, the beacon was there.

Irregular? Why, Mr. Webster, how you talk! It was as true to its "orbit about the sun" as old mother earth herself. Almost. Though oftentimes having to resort to the Encyclopedia Britannica for copy, its five column tabloid size sheets always managed to be filled with something.

Students read it . . . and liked it. That was the payoff for the cluster of young journalistic hopefuls who slaved over a hot typewriter by the light of a midnight candle (burning at both ends). It was always a happy occasion, that day every other Friday, when stacks of black on white were ceremoniously dumped at points about the campus.

But then the worries began anew. Issue number one was completed and the deadline for number two reared its menacing head. Number two finished, number three full of blank space eager to be filled. And so on ad infinitum . . . ad infinitum seventeen times, anyway.

Red-haired, urbane Virginia Bailey steered the minute heavenly body through the first semester of newspaper firmament, assisted by Associate Editor Ralph Lemon, Business Manager Naomi Thabet, and occasional skirmishes down the road a piece toward the heart of downtown you know where.

Staffers were: Neil Boggs, Feature Editor; Ed Rowan, Sports Editor; Doris Moses, Circulation Manager; Bud Metz, Advertising Manager.

Reporters and assistants were: Skip Johnson, Charles Wray, Pat Collins, Jerry Braden, Marguerite Schoonover Hubbard, Jim McIntyre, and Evelyn Ciccarello.

Lorene Candor replaced Ralph Lemon as Associate Editor toward the end of the semester's skirmish.

When the smoke had cleared from the ivy covered barracks at the close of the first semester, the lineup was changed. The Comet's own mother would still recognize its scion from the "gluttons for punishment" carried over through the trials of semester examinations, but several new faces added to the general hub-bub.

L. E. (Ed) Peters, Jr., who absconded from West Virginia University with several introductory journalism courses, was appointed to fill the driver's seat on the Comet's fiery tail.

Naomi Thabet continued to hold up the business end and R. R. Schoolfield was Associate Editor.

A. E. (Bill) Bibb, fresh from the army and the Miami Herald, scattered colorful lingo to the four winds in his much read sports section. He also served in the new position of Managing Editor at the semester's halfway mark.

Others helping out in the Comet year's second wind were: Toni Suppa, Women's Sports; Shawkey Saba, Artist and Columnist; Phyllis Jarrett and Ann Thomas, Circulation; Barbara Wagner, Exchange.

Long-suffering reporters and assistants were Jerry Braden, Bill Cox, Shirley Hale, Lorene Candor, John Bowyer, Anne Kessler, Kent Bryant, O. R. Bush, Jerry Davis, Doris Moses, Joan Billingsly, Betty Puckett.

Frequent contributors were: Marshall Miller and Charlie Kneisley.

Publishing a paper is always a task that seems more glamorous and satisfying in retrospect—when one can sit back and view the year as a whole, not having the dread apparition named "deadline" constantly hanging over his head. When the frantic haste and hundred headaches are history.

Then's when we of the staff reminisce with words like "It's been fun," and "Remember when. . ."

As to the success of our efforts, we have only to say two words. We tried.

The finest tribute you who were here can pay is in the form of two other words—"They tried."

Zeta Kappa, the oldest of Morris Harvey's Greek Letter Organizations, was founded March 14, 1923, by six students in Old Billingsley Hall at Barboursville, W. Va. The Fraternity was called Kappa Kappa when first formed and later changed to Beta Kappa. November 30, 1928, active and alumni members gathered in Huntington, W. Va., for the first National Convention. They changed the name to Zeta Kappa, formed the Grand Chapter and declared the organization national.

The Fraternity is founded upon scholarship, fellowship and high moral and social standards.

The Student Directory, one of the Fraternity's outstanding contributions to Morris Harvey, was published for the second consecutive year. The information for the Directory is compiled by the Fraternity members and the cost of publication is defrayed by advertisers.

Outstanding social functions of the Fraternity are Christmas Formal, Birthday Ball and Spring Formal. At the Birthday Ball this year, Miss Betty Jo McGrew was named Sweatheart of Zeta Kappa.

Chi Beta Phi is a national honorary scientific fraternity. To be eligible for membership, a student must have completed satisfactorily a prescribed number of hours in the natural sciences and mathematics. Meetings are held monthly, or more frequently, and recent advancements in science are discussed by chapter members or by visiting scientists. Men and women are eligible for membership.

The national organization awards annually a scholarship key to the outstanding student member of each chapter, and sponsors an annual essay contest, offering three cash prizes of $25.00, $15.00, and $10.00, respectively. The contest is open only to student members of the chapters.

For the purpose of promoting scholarship, the Epsilon Chapter of Morris Harvey College awards annually a medal, called the Chi Beta Phi Science Medal, to that student of the College who attains the highest average on the first 24 hours of college science, provided that the average is 90 per cent or above.

Phi Kappa Sigma was organized in the fall of 1928 on the Morris Harvey campus at Barboursville, West Virginia. The aim of the sorority is to unite into a more intimate fellowship young women of congenial tastes, and by means of that fellowship and sisterly understanding to afford each member the opportunity of broadening and enriching her life socially, intellectually, physically, and spiritually.

The organization carries out each year an extensive program of varied social and educational activities. A formal tea is held at the beginning of the school year to which all girl students in the school and faculty members are invited. Highlighting the year's social program is the annual spring formal.

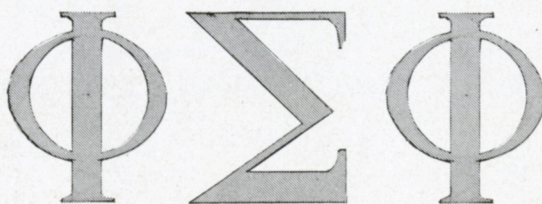

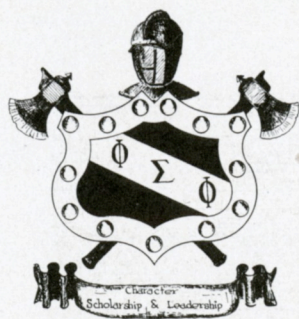

This year, Anita Cogan was selected May Queen and ruled over the annual festivities held on the lawn of the State Capitol May 13. Two of her attendants, Marguerite Hubbard and Doris Sue Smith were also "Phi Kaps" Keith Ann Moore, as Miss Sophomore, attended Miss Morris Harvey in the annual Homecoming Day ceremonies. Beta Nu Chapter of Sigma Iota Chi—the oldest national sorority on the campus—was established in 1936 at Kanawha College. Originally Sigma Iota Chi was established as an honor sorority in Alexandria, Louisiana, in 1903, and later became a social organization. When Morris Harvey and Kanawha College merged the sorority continued to function on common campus.

The purpose of Sigma Iota Chi is to aid in the social growth and character development of its members. Beta Nu carries an average of 15 members. To be eligible for membership in the sorority, it is necessary to meet all national requirements as well as those of the local Panhellenic Council.

This year's highlight was the Sigma Snowball dance during the Christmas vacation. Other yearly activities are: the annual tea for all the women of the college, rush parties, rituals, parties given by the pledges for the actives and a hayride.

The local group is visited each year by a Grand Chapter officer. National Convention is held by Sigma Iota Chi every two years and the 1948 convention was held in Cincinnati, Ohio. Six delegates from the local chapter attended.

In the fall of 1948 the alumnae chapter of Sigma Iota Chi, Alpha Beta Nu, was organized. It now has 25 members.

Beta Nu Chapter is sponsored by Mrs. W. H. Walker and the patronesses are: Mrs. C. E. King, Mrs. Frank Black, Mrs. Alice Haworth, Mrs. Robert Dorsey, and Mrs. C. E. Bennett.

Brilliant coaching by young and energetic Eddie King and heads-up football by his squad all down the line brought a state conference championship to the Golden Eagles from the south banks of the Kanawha.

"Whitey" Scragg, the mighty midget, put the first tack on his claim as a halfback on the West Virginia Intercollegiate conference all-star team by scampering 61 yards, as only "Whitey" can scamper, for a game-tying touchdown against a bunch of Polar Bears from Ohio Northern University. Dewey Romine, the bone-crushing fullback, scored the other Golden Eagle touchdown and Miles Trout, the boy with the educated toe, added the point from placement that meant the difference between a tie and defeat.

Again the name "Whitey" Scragg pops up and again in a very prominent place. He only scored both Morris Harvey touchdowns in their next outing to down the Senators from Davis-Elkins 14-7. The Golden Eagles added their two points to Scragg's scoring by smearing a D-E back in the end zone in the second quarter for a safety.

To even the season's record at one win, one loss and one tie the Eagles ventured to Berea, Ohio, and graciously lost to the Baldwin-Wallace Yellow-jackets 53-7. Miles Trout romped over for the Eagle score and "Skinny" Davis, the Nitro fat-man, added the extra by placement. Ferg Giannakis, the eventual hero of the Gee Eagle season, tossed a pass for the score.

The South Ruffner gridironers ate more Ohio dust the following week-end when they entered the Bowling Green lair and were clawed to the tune of 48-6. Scragg, the fair-haired boy, kept his flying feet flying, as he scampered across the double chalk marks for the MH tally.

The following football night the Golden Eagles gained revenge for their disastrous showings in Ohio and edged their arch rivals from up the Kanawha, the Golden Bears of West Virginia Tech, 7-0.

'The Whitey' Scragg took to the passing route in the Tech fray and lobbed one into the waiting and welcome arms of Miles Trout who hauled it across from the five-yard line and the only score of the contest. Scragg made point No. 7 with a placement boot.

At last came a win over a team from the Buckeye State but it came on Laidley Field soil as the Golden Eagles bumped the boys from Otterbein College 21-0.

Bobcats and Eagles went at one another tooth and claw in the next appearance of the Bronze Birds and they ended up in a 0-0 deadlock. Morris Harvey had plenty of breaks, all bad, as they missed a first down on the four-yard line by scant inches, lost the ball four times on fumbles, had a pass intercepted and two kicks blocked.

Georgetown, Kentucky, invaded worn-out Laidley Field to provide the Maroon and Gold with a tune-up for their all-important Thanksgiving Day clash with West Liberty for the conference championship. And it turned out to be just that as the Golden Eagles, powered by the brilliant running of Miles Trout, dropped the Kaintuckians 14-0. Trout hit pay-dirt once with Dewey Romine scooting across for the other. Reliable Scragg split the uprights for the extras.

Thanksgiving Day and West Liberty were turkey for the proteges of Eddie King as the Golden Eagles gave the Hilltoppers the bird and, by the way, a 25-12 licking. Hamburger-slinging Ferg Giannakis flung the pig all over ancient but sturdy Laidley Field to end his collegiate career in a blaze of unforgettable glory. The "Glorious Greek" heaved four touchdown passes to end the 25-game winning streak of Joe Bartell's Hilltoppers. "Whitey" Scragg gathered in the first Giannakis gem and after that End Charley Hubbard took over the receiving duties and crossed the goal-line three times. Scragg added the extra point.

Five wins, 2 losses and 2 ties gave the Golden Eagles a very respectable season record and, above all, the conference championship. It wasn't an easy road as the boys will tell you, but it did have a happy culmination. It started the greatest athletic season Morris Harvey has ever enjoyed and made the school year 1948-49 one that will forever live in the memories of Morris Harvey students and fans.

DOUBLE THREAT

Bordas & King

A King-sized basketball squad — George and Eddie — raced to their first state collegiate conference championship in the never-to-be-forgotten year of 1949. The Gold and Maroon cagers chalked up the highest per game scoring average in the country and the boy with the basketball brain, George King, hit the hoops for 757 points to lead the nation in scoring and in average points per game.

Now to trip through the 1949 campaign and give you the highlights to fall back on in your older days.

The boys from the south banks of the Kanawha were over-anxious in their brand new fieldhouse in the opening game with Ohio University and fell victim to the Buckeye boys, 60-46. George King started off his fabulous season by "only" potting 16 points.

Their first road encounter started them on the road to one of the finest seasons Morris Harvey has ever enjoyed. It was "no contest" as the Eagles soared over West Virginia Wesleyan 61-42. George was the King-pin for the Kingmen with 27 markers.

Union (Ky.) College invaded King's castle and went back to the Bluegrass State with a 93-62 lacing. Georgie poured in 32 points and Dave Beverly chipped in with 11.

Morris Harvey then proceeded to pull a game out of the fire for one of their biggest triumphs of the season. The boys eked out a 68-67 decision over Washington & Lee. King layed in a lay-up with 20 seconds left in the exciting contest for the blow that broke the General's back. George tossed in 22 followed by Sonny Moran's 18.

The Flyers of Dayton University flew a little too high in an over-time period to down the Eagles 78-71. Morris Harvey 82, West Virginia Tech 68. The old MH rivals went down before the wrath of George King's 36 and Sonny Moran's 24 points.

A trip into Kentucky netted a victory and a defeat for the Golden Birds. Transylvania dropped a 56-45 verdict to the Eagles, paced by King and Moran. Kentucky Wesleyan tied the over-time can on the Eagles with a 76-69 victory. George and Sonny again led the scoring for MH.

January 11 Morris Harvey's murderous hoopsters ended the winning streak of the Alderson-Broadbudd Battlers, 77-49. Gallopin' George and Dave Beverly paced the winner's attack.

The Bobcats of West Virginia Wesleyan were the next to fall to defeat to the high-flying Eagles by a score of 75-67. The "Houdini of the Hardwoods" led the locals with 39 points.

Morris Harvey hit the hundreds for the first time with a 101-77 mauling of the clawless Tigers of Salem College. Needless to say, George was the leading basket-bomber for the South Ruffner crew.

The first capacity crowd of the new gym watched the Bronze Birds hand the Senators of Davis-Elkins a 90-76 defeat. King cut the cords for 25 points.

West Liberty's Hilltoppers, still smarting from that Thanksgiving Day football game, pulled one of the really big upsets in giving the bird to the Eagles, 76-72. George King hit the hoop for 40 points.

Wheaton (Ill.) College treated local cage fans to a dazzling display of basketball as they handed the Kingmen an 80-61 shellacking.

Too much George was the case in the Fairmont-MH game, won by the latter 90-81. King connected for 42 points.

Everything seemed to go wrong for the Morris Harvey cagers as they dropped a 69-64 decision to the Mt. Lions of Concord State.

The Eagles flew the coop for their next game with Alderson-Broadbudd and picked up a hair-raising 72-70 victory. George "Laughing Boy" King rang the bell for 26 points.

Davis-Elkins' tall Senators made a motion that they beat the Gee Eagles and they did it to the tune of 96-76. George King upped his season total to 502 points with 28.

The Eagles got engaged in a scoring marathon with the Pioneers of Glenville on February 15 and came out on top, 98-94. For the second time in two weeks Georgie poured in 42 points.

Morris Harvey woke up in the second half in their game with the cellar-dwelling Potomac State Catamounts and won going away, 76-59. "Missing Molar" Moran poured in 26 points while George was held to his low of the season, 14.

The smallest university in the country, Tiffin, was next on the list for the high-flying Eagles and they sent the boys back to Ohio with a sound 103-78 licking. King and Moran led the Eagle barrage.

The Golden Eagles edged Tech 73-71 in a close game at Montgomery to straddle the highest hurdle in their path to the state championship. King engineered the Eagle attack with 31 points followed by Moran with 25.

The Eagles sewed up the state diadem in the last game of the regular season with a basket-bombing 100-70 victory over Glenville State. George flipped in 34 points to lead the championship Eagles.

The Golden Eagles made their first state tournament encounter an empressive one in rolling over the Salem Tigers 105-82 in a game that wasn't as close as the score indicates. George King demonstrated his scoring talent to state fans by dumping in 34 points, collecting 16 in MH's record shattering 39-point first quarter.

Glenville's Pioneers were a little tough to get by for the third time but the proteges of Eddie King came through with a 70-69 win. George again punished the nets to the tune of 34 points.

George King and company bowed out of the tournament in the semi-finals to the rampaging Golden Bears of West Virginia Tech, 83-74. The last game of the season was just a repeat of the other 25; George King paced the Eagle attack.

It was a great season for Morris Harvey. One of the greatest in the long history of the institution and probably no finer team will ever represent the Maroon and Gold on the basketball court. The Eagles had a very respectable record of 18 wins and 8 losses.

But above all, the boys were a great bunch of champions, great sports, and last but not least, a great bunch period.

Charles Gregg, Editor

Presenting the staff of the 1949 "Harveyan," who struggled through scissors, paste, double pinochle and several hands of bridge to bring you "your puss in print."

Before going to press several letters were received by the Editor in regard to the printing of the pictures, (ie) "I refuse to allow that picture to be printed!" etc., etc.

The Staff felt that these threats were written in jest. However, if there are any serious complaints please forward them to Bill Peery (picture above), Harveyan Staff, General Delivery, Whitehorse, Scotland.

No foolin' though, the Staff has conducted much research to give you the type of book you want—all pictures and no readin'. If for any reason, however, you're not satisfied—tell you what we're goin' do—just tear the top off of the Library building and sent it in, along with thirty dollars, (to cover the cost of handling and packing) and we will send you absolutely free a July copy of the "Police Gazette."

Rosemond Gadd, Business Manager

Bill Peery, Associate Editor

Blackfriars

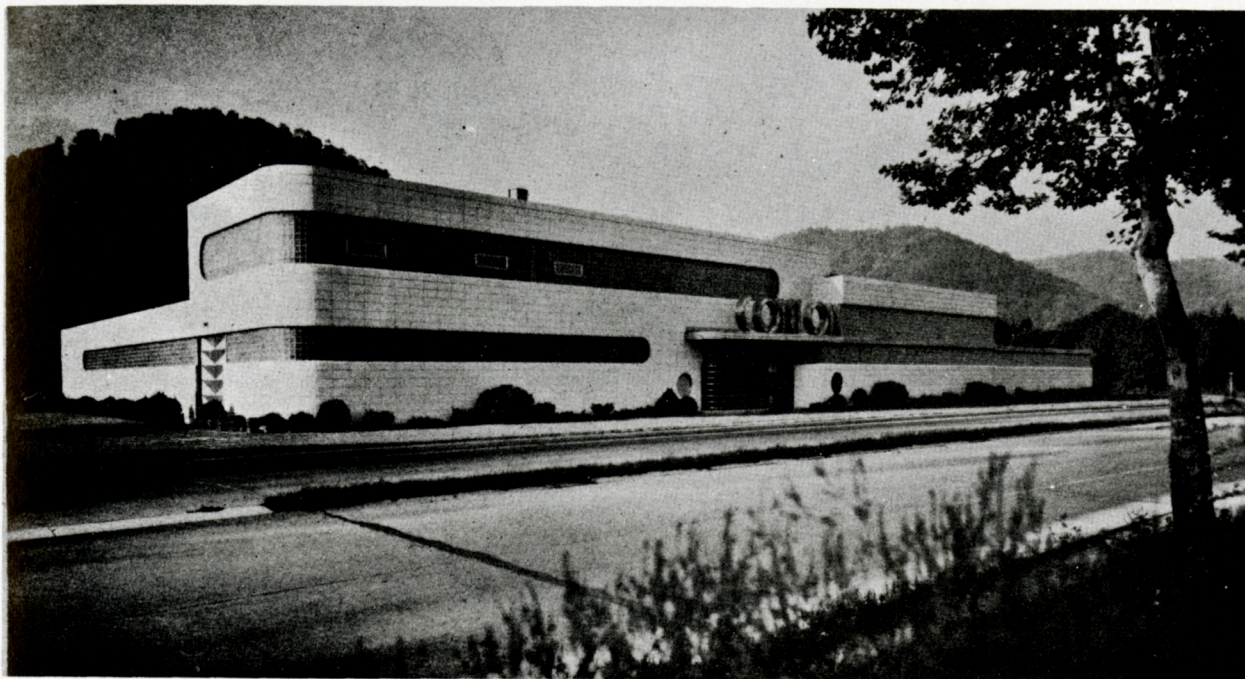

THE MALE ANIMALS

The highlight of the campus dramatic season was the Blackfriars production, "The Male Animal." Although many obstacles confronted the organization, they "stuck by their guns" until the oft-delayed opening night, May 7. Pictured above are the cast members, who also built, painted and erected the sets.

Miss Jean Maloney, assistant English professor, directed the show and was instrumental in preserving an air of academic calm.

Here lies the Business Manager. She has lied with a straight face for the past six months and she is now ready to tell the truth.

If you jokers think your subscriptions made The Harveyan possible, you don't know how little a dollar will buy. If you think it's a sinecure to get a scholarship for being Business Manager of this here, now, annual, you don't know the facts of life.

Soldiers gripe and statesmen get callouses on their tonsils explaining politics, but a Business Manager wears the feet down to nubs looking for advertisers.

When she's lucky she finds one.

This book represents her good fortune.

She loves these advertisers like fathers, like mothers, like brothers, like sisters. As a matter of fact, if she ever gets rich, she will probably leave them a stipend in her will.

They are terrific. They said yes!

The rest of you characters may look at your picture in The Harveyan and feel a smug glow. Some of you will feel unhappy because you don't look glamorous. But the rest of her life, the Business Manager will look at Tag Galyean's ad on the page facing this and wish she had a use for a job-rated truck.

That's advertising for you.

Now that the time is past when all good men should come to the aid of their party, the Business Manager would like to say a word. Okay, Mr. Editor?

The word is "Whee!"

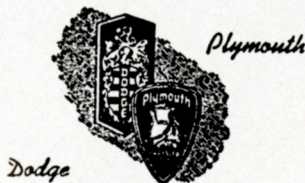

She would even go so far as to say "Golly!" She'll say "Gee!" Frankly now that the job is through, she'll say most anything.

Come to think of it, that is not a new policy with the Business side.

We have one policy which will never change. We have been honest and sincere in putting out this annual. We've told the people of Charleston that Morris Harvey is a fine place; that the Harveyan means a lot to the students here; that only they can make the book possible. They came through!

That's why the Business Manager wants that job-rated truck. That's the reason why there is a warm place inside her for the Advertisers. They largely paid for this book. That's why she is resting in peace.

Dear Members:

You are to be congratulated upon your graduation from Morris Harvey College. A college education will be of great benefit to you as you enter your chosen field. We are confident you will make a name for yourself of which your school can well be proud.

Speaking of names, we represent two that have long been known in the transportation field. They are Dodge and Plymouth. Dodge and Plymouth cars and Dodge Job-Rated Trucks have stood the test for many years.

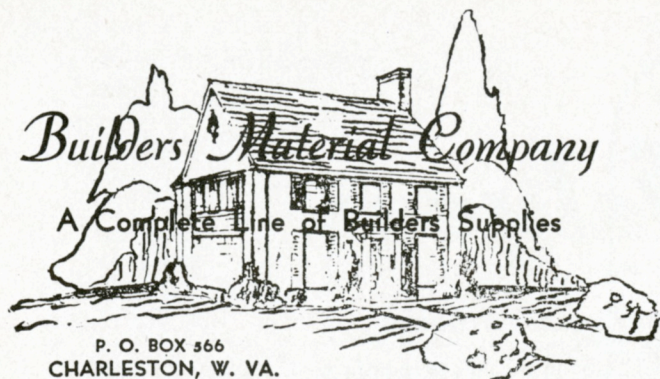

To you who are among the chosen ones of your generation we say congratulations and may your greatest ambitions be realized.

Sincerely yours,
